Maybe it was the hint of rain. Maybe it was the fact that some folks were out of town. Whatever the reason, only a handful of people attended the June 6 Sport Launch. Those who didn't missed out on some great flying weather and NO soccer!

Our old friends, the Frisbies were there, by their own admission "just passing by" on their way to a family event. Of course, they just happened to have some rockets and motors in the car with them, and well.....

Mike Brubaker only flew one model, and no, he did not put it on the roof. Larry Gerlach proved that once again he's living on the edge. That crazy guy put an Estes E9 in his Silver Comet. Very cool flight, actually. Larry also got a charge out of Timmy Beever chasing after every rocket he could see, fueled by the little Three Musketeers and Reese's' Peanut Butter Cups that he was feeding him all day [thanks Larry].
